“The Codes of Gender: Identity and Performance in Pop Culture,” Documentary Screening and Public Dialogue

With doctoral students - Esther Perez, Roy Quinto, Casey Quirarte, and Chris Lee – and Dr. Antonia Darder, Leavey Presidential Chair and Professor.

*Arguing that advertising not only sells things, but also ideas about the world, media scholar Sut Jhally offers a blistering analysis of commercial culture’s inability to let go of reactionary gender representations. By looking beyond advertising as a medium that simply sells products, and beyond analyses of gender that tend to focus on either biology or objectification, The Codes of Gender offers important insights into the social construction of masculinity and femininity, the relationship between gender and power, and the everyday performance of cultural norms. - To see more, click here.*

Call for Participation in the 2013 AERA Division D Mentoring Reception

AERA Division D will host a Mentoring Reception to support early career scholars at our annual meeting in San Francisco from 4:05 to 6:05 PM on Sunday, April 28th. The reception is intended to facilitate interactions between members well-established in their careers and research and early career scholars who are still enjoying the unique challenges in our field including issues related to research methodology, publishing, and career goals. Division D doctoral students at the advanced stages of their doctoral programs and scholars within 5 years of earning the doctoral degree are encouraged to apply. Applications may be submitted to the mentoring committee at aeradivisiondmentoring@gmail.com. Attach a Curriculum Vita to your email that includes, at a minimum, your name, address, institution, telephone, email, educational background, professional work experience, teaching experience (if any), publications and presentations. Applications will be accepted until capacity is reached. Please indicate your primary purpose for attending in your email (e.g., networking, to learn about the latest methodological innovations in my area, advice on getting published, etc.). Your responses to a brief survey sent to you following the receipt of your application will help us to personalize your experience at the reception. Participation will be confirmed within two weeks of completing the survey. Further details will be provided as available.

Inter-American Symposium on Ethnography and Education

The website for the Inter-American Symposium on Ethnography and Education XIII/ XIII Simposio Interamericano de Investigación Etnografía de la Educación is now open and accepting proposals at <http://conferences.gseis.ucla.edu/simposio>. This is a rare opportunity to engage with leading anthropologists of education from Mexico, Argentina, Brazil and other Latin American countries in an intimate multi-lingual setting. The conference is for all ethnographic research addressing the broad theme, "Majorities, minorities and migrations in comparative perspective," and is by no means limited to those who work in Latin America or with Latino/a populations. Sessions will be multilingual and multinational. You may propose a full session, a partial session, or a single paper. Contact the organizers now at xiiisimposiointeramericano@yahoo.com to discuss possibilities.

The Simposio takes place September 18–20, 2013, at UCLA. Proposal deadline is March 15, 2013.

Do you have writing goals for your thesis or dissertation in the new year?

Have you resolved to be a more productive writer in 2013? If so, join our community of writers by subscribing to the ProductiveWriter listserv to receive emails twice a month with advice and strategies for becoming a more productive writer. Sponsored by the Cornell Graduate School, the Productive Writer is free and open to all, especially graduate students writing papers, proposals, theses, and dissertations. FEBRUARY RECAP

On Feb. 20, Dr. Antonia Darder, Leavey Presidential Chair and Professor, presented A Critical Theory of Biculturalism to a packed room of students and educators including several classes from LMU, UCLA, and Antioch University. Dr. Darder's lecture explored the social and educational injustices and inequalities faced by racial and ethnic minorities in the U.S. and Los Angeles and described how a Critical Bicultural Theory would address injustices and liberate. If you missed this event, a recording of Dr. Darder's lecture will be available on the Doctoral Program website in the coming weeks.

If you missed it, click HERE to watch the video recording of Dr. Darder's lecture!

JOB OPPORTUNITIES

Part-Time Tutor for Club Z!

Club Z! In-home Tutoring is the world's largest in-home tutoring program. Club Z! is seeking qualified part-time tutors (with either a teaching certificate or a degree PLUS previous tutoring experience) for high school subjects – particularly Math, Science, and English. Tutors will earn $20 per hour. We are interviewing applicants who can tutor in the Santa Monica, Marina Del Rey, and Venice Areas.

Qualifications: Applicants should be comfortable working one-on-one with students and possess either a teaching certificate OR a degree PLUS at least 1 year of prior tutoring experience. We have great needs for upper level Math & Science tutors. Club Z! tutors use the student's classroom curriculum. Applicants must have reliable transportation.

We match tutors with students based on their needs and your qualifications. You make your own schedule! Most tutoring sessions occur after school, early evenings, and/or weekends in the safety and comfort of the child's home.

If you enjoy making a difference, and want to earn great part-time income doing what you love, come join the club – Club Z!

Please reply to ngogate@clubztutoring.com with your resume attached and indicate the tutoring subject(s) of interest in your email's heading.
